BYU Spring Sign-Up Next Week

Pre-registration for spring quarter will take place February 28, 29 and March 1, according to Dr. Antone K. Romney, acting dean of students.

Registrants will report first to the Maeser building, in an alphabetical order yet to be announced. Fee payments will be made on February 28. The next two days class cards will be collected and registration cards completed.

To register, students will report to their deans and counselors in the Smith building. Trial schedule cards must be signed by registration advisers. Then the students will pick up class cards and complete their registration cards.

Advance appointments with deans and counselors are currently being held to help students arrange their schedules on a long range plan. All students are urged to make appointments with their deans or counselors to arrange their schedules before the last minute.

There will be no registration between March 1 and March 17. The purpose of this early registration, open to all new or old students, is to give the administration time to arrange for additional classes if necessary, to confer with students who fail to register, or to iron out schedule conflicts before the beginning of the new quarter, Dr. Romney said.

An earlier vote has shown that the students are in favor of this pre-registration procedure.

Oil Company Seeks Y Grads for Work

Representatives of the Gulf Oil Company will visit Brigham Young University on February 27 and 28, to interview prospective graduates.

Representatives will be especially interested in graduates in the fields of geology, business, pre-engineering and pre-medicine, according to Dr. George H. Hansen, acting dean of the college of Arts and Sciences.

Representatives from major oil companies come to BYU regularly to interview prospective graduates, Dr. Hansen said. Several companies already have been on campus, and others have set tentative dates of arrival.

Y Cadets Name New Air Unit In Honor of Col. Jesse E. Stay

by Jim Brimhall

Brigham Young University's newest fraternity—the Jesse E. Stay Squadron of the Arnold Air Society—was ordered active Wednesday at the social hall, enrolling 35 cadet officers of the BYU AFROTC.

President Ernest L. Wilkinson in his presentation of the charter charged the squadron to promote leadership and character in order that their service be of the highest quality.

AAS Major Sanford S. Walker, Bountiful, was assigned commanding officer of the unit, according to Captain Amos L. Bossa, squadron adviser. Appointments included AAS Captain Joe J. Christensen, Bannock, Ida., executive officer; AAS 1st Lt. George L. Williams, Winnemucca, Nev., operations officer; AAS 1st Lt. William N. Creer, Spanish Fork, public relations officer; AAS 1st Lt. D. Jerry Carter, Cheyenne, Wyo., adjutant recorder; and AAS 1st Lt. Wayne M. Hancock Jr., Glendale, Calif., secretary-treasurer. Cadet Major R. Dwight Stuckey, Pomona, N. C., was designated special assistant to the adviser.

President Wilkinson, Professor William E. Berret and the sixteen officers and non-commissioned officers of the AFROTC detachment were made honorary members of the society.

In a previous meeting, members voted unanimously to name the fraternity after the commanding officer of the BYU unit, Lt. Col. Jesse E. Stay.

Arnold Air Society members can be distinguished by blue and gold braid on their right shoulders.

Y Students Score Victory As Deans' Council Acts To Move Assembly Hour

Brigham Young studentbody has won a victory in its spontaneous attempt to increase attendance at devotionals.

The recommendation made last week by the student legislative council to move assemblies to the 9:55 hour was approved Thursday by the dean's council after a discussion in the president's office.

The change was first suggested by studentbody president Keith Orme last summer when President Wilkinson first initiated action for better assembly turnouts. At that time the dean's council approved a plan to move the assemblies to the Fieldhouse to enable more students to attend.

Suggestion Pigeon-holed

However, the council pigeon-holed Mr. Orme's suggestion until last week when the students themselves took initiative to solve their own problem and sent an official recommendation to the president.

The earlier assembly hour will begin with the spring quarter. The deans decided to make a clean transposition of the 9:55 and 11 a.m. class hours. That is, classes now scheduled for 9:55 will come at 11 a.m. and vice versa. Only difficulty will be encountered in some chemistry laboratories, and alteration of those classes is already underway.

Additional Benefits

The shift will achieve an additional benefit for students in earlier cafeteria hours. At present, with assemblies at 11 a.m. serving cannot begin before noon. Under the new system, serving can begin at 11:30 a.m. to accommodate students having noon classes.

In addition some improvements are being planned in assemblies, such as use of backdrops, elimination of backstage glare, coloring of skylights, improvement of the sound system, moving the pulpit closer to the audience, and addition of a closing song.

Provo Crime Prevention Forum Draws Interest of Y Students

Brigham Young University departments of psychology, sociology and home economics are urging all students to attend Provo's first annual public forum on crime prevention tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the tabernacle.

Sponsored by the Provo Exchange club, the forum will present information on crime and human behavior. The forum is being held in connection with national Crime Prevention Week.

MINOR BLOOD DONORS MUST ASK PARENTS

All students under 21 who plan to donate blood in the Red Cross drive should obtain written permission from their parents immediately, it was announced by the AFROTC office today.

Forms for the permission are available in the AFROTC office, 150 Brimhall building.

A Red Cross mobile blood unit will visit the campus soon. It will work in cooperation with social units and clubs, as well as unaffiliated students.

Pianist Returns For Concert At Tabernacle

Clifford Curzon, master pianist, will perform on the Brigham Young University-Community Concert series, Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Provo tabernacle. Because of his outstanding performance last year, when he was hailed as one of the best pianists ever to appear here, he was re-engaged for this season during a very limited tour.

European Background

He was well-known in Europe before his first American appearance in 1939 in Town Hall. This successful appearance was followed by a Carnegie Hall appearance with orchestra. His second American appearance was in the autumn of 1947 with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra under Dimitri Mitropoulos.

Plays Concerto

In the spring of 1949 he was chosen to play Beethoven's "Emperor Concerto" three times in the course of the Beethoven Cycle with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, directed by Bruno Walter. His 1951 tour included four appearances in the Brahms "D Minor Concerto" as a feature of the Brahms Cycle under the direction of Mr. Walter.

He will only come as far west as Provo in this short tour. One critic said of him, "Mr. Curzon, an artist of true humbleness and a consecrated devotion to his task, is one of the most remarkable pianists and musicians now before the public."

YC Openhouse Set To Draw Potential Frosh Membership

All freshman women with a grade point average of 2.0 or higher are invited to attend the Y Calcares openhouse tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Smith banquet hall.

Y Calcares is an honorary service organization with members drawn from the freshman and sophomore classes. Members are active during their sophomore and junior years.

Activities of the Y. C.'s include ushering at games and other campus events and many service projects during the year.

No Girls Allowed . . .

Smokeless Smoker Entries Growing

Brigham Young University men will have their night, come Thursday, when the AMS Smokeless Smoker will be held on the main floor of the fieldhouse beginning at 8 p.m.

An annual affair, the strictly stag event is under the chairmanship of Pete DaParma, Newark, N. J. Eager entrants may register for either the wrestling or boxing events Monday and Tuesday at the fieldhouse in the boxing and wrestling rooms. It will be possible to sign up when the weighing-in ceremonies are held Wednesday between 12 and 1:30 p.m. in the boxing room.

Groups to Enter

Men are urged by Mr. DaParma to enter with their organizations or units and not as individuals. Independents may organize into teams for point competition.

The AMS will sponsor a permanent plaque that will be placed in the fieldhouse upon which the names of the winning teams will be inscribed. If any independent does enter the competition, he will be given a medal instead of having his name put on the plaque.

Points will be awarded on the basis of three for first, two for second, and one for third place. The organizational winner will be decided on a total point basis. Judges for the events will be coaches Wayne Soffe, Reed Nielson, and Neal Gibby. Coach Soffe will referee the boxing, while Herm Rowley will handle the wrestling. Clarence Robison will be timer.

Short Rounds

Every precaution has been taken to insure an accident-free evening. There will be head-guards and rubber mouthpieces furnished to all leather tossers. Because of the expected large number of entrants, the rounds will be cut in length.

All participants are asked to use white rubber soled shoes, and to bring someone to second them in their corner. Spectators will sit in the seats on the east side of the floor, and admission will be free.

Jon Katzenbach will emcee and Dick Moody will direct the special halftime show.

PERMANENT PLAQUE—Sanford Walker, Pete DaParma, and Robert Mauzy hold the smokeless smoker trophy.

Library Halls Different:
No Between-Class Noise

Down the halls from room to room cheery conversation and relaxed movement break the monotony of class periods. That is as it should be.

The Library halls are different. Since study in the Library is a continuous process concentration is best served by a quiet atmosphere throughout the whole building. Please honor the sign at the entrance of the Library, "Quiet, this is a study area."

Letters to the Editor

Jon: A Kind Word ...

Dear Editor:

I usually send home a copy of the UNIVERSE to my parents, commenting in an accompanying letter on school happenings underlying the editorials.

In turn, I usually get some comments treating on school life in letters from home. I think the following, written by my father, is of general interest. Perhaps too, it may help broaden many students' concept of the function criticism plays in art and everyday life.

"... The clippings sent were excellent, and appreciated. The criticism by Jon Beck Shank was rough—but necessary to the development of a truly great university. Such men exist as 'neederers' to the body politic—their egotism fed by unpopularity which they assiduously cultivate. It is regrettable that he is not a little more kind. Such thrusts, however, will help to alert the directors of drama and speech against smug 'ruttedness,' and the fatal assumption that because a thing is well received, it is good enough.

Nothing is ever good enough in a great university: it is a family of strivers from the president to the last student. The only things that should remain stable are the eternal verities, and I doubt if they will ever lose sight of those, as have some universities. . ."

Council: He's Married ...

Dear Editor:

This letter is not being written in the spirit of complaint, only because I feel that a minority group is being overlooked in the current manner of distributing tickets to ball games. I would like to know why a married man can't buy a ticket in the student section for his wife.

When I tried to do that the other day, I was curtly, and not very politely, told that those seats had to be reserved for students only. That's a good enough reason, but I was told, on the other hand, that for $5.50 I could buy a student activity card for my wife that would allow her to all of the games! This doesn't make sense to me. If I can buy seats for all the games, why can't I buy one seat for one game? Due to our being parents, and to the fact that I have to work nights to keep us in school, we can't get out very much. This would have been the second game of the season which we could have attended. Our budget just couldn't meet the price of $5.50 for two games, especially when we didn't know ahead of time that we would be able to see that many.

If there are no married men on the council in a similar situation, perhaps they won't be able to understand our point of view, but there are a few who read this letter who will. I wonder just how many more tickets would have to be made available for each game to allow for people who unwillingly find themselves in this category?

If there is a sound reason for the present policy and not just a hypothetical one, I will be happy to wait for better times.

Girls: Please Be Good ...

Dear Editor:

If anyone who is not enrolled in school were to approach the information booth in the Joseph Smith Building lobby, he would probably leave with an extremely unfavorable opinion of our school; and he probably would have good reason, if he were treated no better than are our own students.

It is our opinion that we have never seen more display of discourtesy and unfriendliness than is seen in the information booth. One can stand there indefinitely and be completely ignored; or if he has the supreme gall to ask for help, he can soon find out what an imposition he is presenting if he is to obtain that information.

It makes you wonder if this is the friendly school, when those girls so impolitely snap at you, if you dare to invade the sanctuary or interrupt their conversations with friends.

If we are to maintain an information booth, wouldn't it be to our advantage to have someone in it who would give everyone an equal break? The present situation is definitely undermining our public relations. Let's do something about it before it is too late.

We're quite sure we are not the only ones who feel this way about this situation.

Abuse of Ticket Privileges

by the Editor

When speech department officials announced a policy of granting admittance to drama productions on activity cards, students were given an opportunity that hadn't been offered at Brigham Young University for many years. But as most privileges are subject to abuse, this new opportunity was no exception.

Almost simultaneously with the announcement of the new policy, students began to take advantage of the situation. Large numbers of empty seats at each performance gave evidence that students were picking up reserved tickets with no intention of using them. While the ducats were resting idly in some pocket or purse, Provo patrons and other students were clamoring in vain to see the plays.

Because of the malpractice of a thoughtless few, the convenience of obtaining tickets at the Joseph Smith information booth was withdrawn. Even after ticket distribution was shifted entirely to the College Hall ticket office, there were still those who persisted in the condemned practice. Although speech department officials have made no threats, it seems reasonable to assume that fee ticket privileges may eventually be completely withdrawn unless student cooperation improves.

Next week BYU students have an added opportunity of attending the opera free-of-charge. Music department heads are requiring all tickets procured at least 24 hours before the performance. Students are also urged to return their tickets if they are certain they will be unable to use them.

As in the past, demand for seats to the opera will be very great. Officials are anxious to avoid having any seats unused. Our cooperation will not only enable a greater number of people to enjoy the production, but will give us reasonable assurance of consideration in the future.

World Today ...

Bold Stand on Isolationism

by Ford Paulson

President J. Reuben Clark of the First Presidency is a man who doesn't mince words. That was well evident last Wednesday evening, when he told a group assembled at the University of Utah the why and wherefore of the isolationism long advocated by him.

True isolationism is a political 'ism' relatively unfamiliar in this generation, and, we feel certain the word carries an ugly connotation to many.

Pres. Clark is a man of unquestioned integrity, who has had wide experience in national and international politics. At present, he is one of the noted international lawyers in this country. Certainly his analysis of the present situation merits great respect.

Therefore, we feel it wise to give an objective report of what we heard, because his remarks are worthy of the careful consideration and thought of UNIVERSE readers.

History has shown us, he said, that while this nation followed the advice of George Washington (i.e., freedom from entangling alliances), the people prospered, and relative peace was known in the land.

During the 130 years that we followed such a policy differences were adjusted, treaties were drawn-up, but never once did we relax the basic policy of staying out of other people's business.

Those years, he asserted, witnessed the growth of this nation to the greatest, most prosperous nation on earth. The USA showed at that time a march of progress unequalled in history.

But then came the 'faux pas' supreme, when that policy was abandoned, and the U. S. entered the first World War. Since that time, according to Pres. Clark, the sovereignty of this nation has been constantly diminishing. We found ourselves entangled in European affairs and have not been able to extricate ourselves since that time.

"Every engagement with another nation which prevents our hampering our choosing our own course impairs our sovereignty," he stated, summarizing U. S. treaties and agreements with other nations since World War I.

Furthermore, our present participation in the United Nations Organization has impaired our sovereignty to a greater degree than any of us realize, he said.

Each of the famed conferences of World War II (Potsdam, Yalta, Teheran, etc.) took away a part of our sovereignty, and the North Atlantic Pact, wherein we obligated ourselves to come to the aid of any member who was attacked, was the crowning touch to this increasing loss of sovereignty, he stated.

The presence of U. S. troops in Korea is completely illegal, both under the Constitution of the United States and the Charter of the United Nations, according to Pres. Clark.

This clear and fearless presentation of an idea that many Americans have but are afraid to talk about, because they don't want to be part of a minority, merits the respect of all who heard it.

However, there are those who believe as we do, that isolationism is not the answer to the present world dilemma. We find ourselves among those who believe that a withdrawing of support from European and Asiatic nations would spell disaster in our fight against Communism.

Undoubtedly this nation has lost some of the sovereignty which she once had, but other nations have given up some of their sovereignty also; so do we not find ourselves in a position with the same relative strength as before? Will nationalism and a tenacious hold on sovereignty help international relations? We are inclined to be doubtful.

As we have stated before, we see the UNO as the only possible rallying point for an eventual world peace. Are its faults great enough that its positive aspects are nullified? We think not.

WHAT A CONTRAST—The New Testament seems out of place among some of the books found in the bookstore.

Masterpieces of Vulgarly . . .

Literary Paradox Vexes Scribe at BYU Bookstore

by Karen Alleman

Do your textbooks seem dull? Are you in the mood for some truly great literature that merits your undivided attention? How about trying "Tobacco Road" or "God's Little Acre," two renowned novels by the noted author, Erskine Caldwell? Or perhaps "Strange Fruit" would fill the bill.

Whatever one wants in shady literature, the campus bookstore is more than ready to provide it from its colorful display of pocket editions.

How did these masterpieces come to adorn our shelves? A good question. In a university which advocates a high cultural level, prepares its students for the richer things of life and provides an atmosphere free from mere vulgarity, it is hard to imagine the purpose of these books.

Literary Masterpieces Look for yourselves. You will find masterpieces that are truly great, such as "Madame Curie" and "Great Operas," forming an ironic sandwich for thrillers like "The Purple Onion Mystery," and "Market for Murder," not to mention a fascinating little number titled "Consultation Room," by Frederick Loomis, M.D., which displays this description of contents on the cover:

"My world has revolved around sex as pivot. In these frank pages, I want to disclose the actual reactions common to women the world over."

All the attraction of these books is not inside either. The cover of "Nana," by Emile Zola, rivals any Varga girl calendar ever printed, and defies all BYU standards of modest dress.

Just a moment—perhaps the magazine rack will provide a better selection of worthwhile literature. But no — "Rangeland Love," "Romance," "Vitalized Physical Culture." Is this what the well-read young college student is reading?

According to Bernarr McFadden in his priceless volume, "Vitalized Physical Culture," "more and more women are now doing our heavy drinking with off-color conduct. . . But is this information really necessary? The same statistics can be obtained in sociology classes on a much less sensational basis.

Of the 17 magazines on the rack last week, five of them were movie magazines. Not that there is anything wrong with the movies (?), but there must be better stories than "John's Other Girl" and "Dressed to Kiss," on which to devote our leisure time. These examples of questionable art seem to mock the 200,000 volume library that stands within walking distance of our bookstore.

Do we BYU students have to admit that our taste is so mediocre? There is an old saying, "You can tell a man's true character by the company he keeps—and by the BOOKS he reads!"

Hollywood Comedian Due Here For Junior Prom Appearance

Hollywood is coming to the Prom! Wendell Nobel, well-known in television and radio circles in the movie capitol of the world, has consented to come to Provo for the Junior Prom, February 29 at the East Provo Stake house.

"Mr. Nobel's appearance at the Prom was arranged through the office of Cleon Skousen, executive secretary of the alumni association," stated junior class proxy John MacCabe. "The act that he will present at the Prom has brought him recognition as one of the brightest of comedians and masters of ceremony in the southern California area," he continued.

In order to facilitate his trip to Utah, Nobel will record his regular radio program for the night of the 29th. His television show will be filmed for broadcast while the star is here in Provo.

Dave Gardner, tux arrangement chairman, has announced that the deadline for ordering tuxes from the official tux agency has been extended until tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. The booth in the lobby of the Science bldg. will be open today and tomorrow from 11-1 p.m. The arrangement has made it possible for prom-goers to have their tuxes individually fitted here on campus, and saves them the inconvenience of having to trek downtown to do their business.

It is urgent that all men who wish to order their tuxes from the official tux agency do so by tomorrow, as there will be no orders accepted after then.

Ticket sales for the Prom began yesterday morning, and will continue through next week. As it is doubtful that there will be tickets available at the dance those men desiring to purchase the ducats can get them at the ticket booths in the Smith and Science bldgs. or from one of the traveling salesmen.

Father of Country Is Remembered For Historical Role

by Earl McBride

The Constitution was hot off the press when George Washington took over the reins as first President of the United States. His objective (to misquote Lincoln) was to prove "whether that nation, or any nation, so conceived and so dedicated could even begin."

Washington is universally noted for his cherry tree woodchopping, and his tempestuous boating of the Delaware River; but the zenith of his exploits came when he re-kindled the morale of colonial troops in the depths of the Revolutionary War. Since then, the words "Valley Forge" have become symbolic of dogged determination in the face of crisis.

After the triumph at Yorktown, he was to mold thirteen separate colonies into one great unit—"one nation, indivisible. . ." He had to road-test this new form of constitutional government on the proving grounds of actual operation; the prosperity of our country today is evidence of his success.

Though functions of government have changed somewhat since the presidency of Washington (to the disgust of Republicans and delight of Democrats) our basic "inalienable rights" are still inalienable, and "In God We Trust" is still our national motto.

It is altogether fitting that we associate Washington's birthday with the birth of our nation, for it was he that spoon-fed an infantile USA into being, and started her on the path toward powerful maturity.

WAC Officer to Explain Army's Need for Women

The United States Army is offering to a limited number of outstanding young college women, the opportunity to become commissioned officers in the Women's Army Corps.

Saxon Invasion of Y Recalls Saxon Invasion of Britain

"My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure." This line from Tennyson has been adopted as the motto of one of the active newly-formed men's units, the Saxons.

Organized last month under the direction of four upperclassmen, the unit had 25 members and pledged 14 more last week.

Advisers who helped found the unit included: Darcy Clawson, Seattle, Wash.; Dick Huish, Berkeley, Calif.; Homer Jensen, Salt Lake City; and Norman Ellertson, Provo.

Origin of Name

The Saxons took their name from a war-like Germanic people who invaded Britain in the latter part of the fifth century. The invaders were absorbed into the British culture and became known as the Anglo-Saxons. They were noted for their virtues of manliness, honesty, and outspokenness—characteristics that are the goal of their present-day BYU counterparts.

After the unit of the Saxons was formed temporary officers were chosen. Leonard Dugger, Salt Lake City, is acting as executive chairman with Glen Lee Williams, Malad, Ida., and Marvin Drake, Jerome, Ida., as his assistants. Neil Jensen, Salt Lake City, is secretary, and Bob Bateman, Burley, Ida., is treasurer of the group.

Formal Election Set

These temporary officers will be replaced next March when a Saxon King, a Saxon Arch-king, a chancellor, and a scribe will be elected.

Cleon Skousen, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, is the Saxon's adviser.

Initiation of the Saxon "pledging" took place last week. Master Falcon Dick Wells, Las Vegas, Nev., directed the initiation committee.

Plan 'Help Week'

In line with their goal of fellowship, the Saxons have plans for a "Help Week" rather than a "Hell Week" at the beginning of the school year.

They plan on starting new traditions rather than abiding exclusively to old ones.

Emblem of the unit is the Falcon head imposed on the Saxon Triad. This emblem was chosen because the Saxons were the first to use the falcon for hunting purposes.

Plans of the unit for the rest of the year include a skating party, canyon party, formal dinner dance, and several other events.

Bench and Bar Invites All To Hear Clyde Sandgren

GAMMA TAU

According to Fred Adams, the "men in red" will hold their annual invitational at the Peruvian Lodge at Alta on March 7. Particulars as to dress and transportation will be discussed at the next meeting.

All members are urged to support the Junior Prom on the 29th of this month.

An exchange dance with Upsilon of Lambda Delta Sigma took place at Joaquin school last Friday evening. Special thanks to chairman Wayne Kleinman.

Final pledging for this quarter's rushers will be Thursday at meeting. Suits and ties will be the order of the day.

FIDELAS

A large crowd attended the Fidelas Invitational held Thursday in the Joseph Smith ballroom with Wes Barry's orchestra. The theme was "Heart Beat," and Virginia Crandall was chairman. Decorations were under the direction of Meridee Moyle and Betty Page.

PSI CHAPTER, LDS

Valentine celebration was ushered in three days early by Psi and Gamma chapters. A joint party and dance was held last Monday in the Joseph Smith banquet hall where clever decorations produced a valentine atmosphere.

To make sure that everyone got acquainted, mixers were used. Crowned as Valentine Queen for the evening was Ellen Lindsay. Responsible for the party arrangements were Pat Bishoff, Kathryn Rich, and Marilyn Thompson.

TO KALON

Congratulations to Banyan Queen, June Peterson.

An exchange with saxons was held Friday night following the game. Bonnie Davis was chairman, assisted by Ellen Walker, Romaine James, and Joan Whittle.

Plans for the To Kalon invitational are being completed by Peggy Affleck and her committee. It will be held Friday in the Smith ballroom.

Preparations are also underway for the dinner dance which

A going-away shower was held for future bride Joan LeSueur at Maralyn Ballif's home recently. will be held April 26 at the Hotel Utah.

"Take your hat 'n goat and scr-r-ram!" Sheedy's girl said. "I won't give you a date, but your hair sure gives me a billy-laugh!" But-but-but," he butted. Sponsor Corps Hopefuls Face Scrutiny of Review Board

From 310 girls who applied Friday, 70 coeds will be chosen this week for admission to the BYU AFROTC Sponsor Corps. Girls will be chosen by a military review board of five cadet officers, five senior girls, Mrs. Lillian C. Moran and Captain Charles K. Moran. Each review member will rate each girl objectively and without comparison.

Appointments for interviews will be posted on all school bulletin boards today. Girls will be chosen on a basis of outstanding qualities of scholarship, honor, personality and appearance. A 1.5 grade average is necessary for admittance.

Interest Stimulated

Interest was stimulated in the Sponsor Corps Thursday afternoon by the appearance at the social hall of sixteen sponsors from the Utah State Agricultural College and the University of Utah. Ramona Stevens, colonel of the A.C.'s Corps of Sponsors and Sue Cutler, holding the same position at the U. of U., explained the organization and activities of the corps on their campuses at a special feminine assembly conducted by Bob Ensign, Glendale, Calif.

The proposed organization on the BYU campus was outlined to Y coeds by Vonda Christensen, Huntington, women's representative.

Choice of Uniform

Joyce Sommerlade, Portland, Ore., described the plans for the choice of a uniform. She stated that designs could still be submitted either to her or the ROTC offices in the Brimhall bldg., until 5 p.m. tomorrow. The corps of sponsors when complete will make the final selection of the uniform.

After the assembly the guests were honored by studentbody officers and central committee members at a dinner held in the Smith cafeteria.

Plans were formulated for a three-school party at the USAC in the latter part of May.

Fully Organized

The BYU Sponsors Corps will be fully organized by the end of this week. The central committee with the aid of Betty Martini, Glendale, Calif.; Sylvia Tyler, Los Angeles; Frances Reed, Denver; Ruth Ellen, May, Baker, Ore.; Shirley Ray, San Antonio, Tex.; and Joanne Milligan, Seattle, formed the constitution. Publicity has been directed by George Williams, Winnemucca, Nev.; Bonnie Wade, Provo, and Miss May. Wes Craig, Portland, Ore.; Carolyn Edwards, Provo, and Milton Lunt, Cedar City, have been responsible for raising funds. Uniform plans have been under the supervision of Miss Sommerlade, Claude Thomas, Rock Springs, Wyo., and Beverly Miller, Midvale.

EASY DOES IT—Joe Richey breaks through three Wyoming defenders to notch a quick two for the Cougar cause. The Cowboys, making a futile attempt to halt the high scoring ace, are from left to right Moe Radovich, Dick Haag, and Ron Rivers. Richey was high point man for the evening with 15 points. For Ev Shelton's boys, it was their tenth Skyline Eight win as against only one loss.

Cougars List Nine Grid Games On '52 Schedule, Four at Home

Brigham Young University announced its 1952 grid schedule last week. The Cougars have nine tilts listed and are looking for one other opponent to fill an open date early in the season.

The open date will be filled with a home game which will give BYU four home games. Spring practice is only a few weeks away and coach Chick Atkinson indicated that next season's schedule would be tougher than last year.

As yet there has been no explanation as to why the Utah game will be played at Salt Lake City as the series has been on a home and home basis with Utah the host last fall.

The Cougars' home tilts will all be played on Saturday. Two of the home games will be played as pre-season tilts with the other two being successive games against Denver and Wyoming. It marks the first time in several years that the Pioneers have condescended to come to Provo for a grid game.

Last year, BYU finished with a good 6-3-1 record for 10 games and looking forward to another successful year.

The following is the 1952 football schedule.

Sept. 20—(Open), Home
Sept. 27—New Mexico, Home.
Oct. 4—Montana, Away
Oct. 11—Utah, Away
Oct. 18—(Open)
Oct. 25—Denver, Home
Nov. 1—Wyoming, Home
Nov. 6—San Jose, Away
Nov. 15—Utah State, Away
Nov. 22—Colorado A&M, Away
Nov. 29—Arizona State, Away.

Title Hopes Fly With Wyoming Loss; Larsen Sparks Win Over Utah State

by Ted Johnson

A story-book ending and all the excitement that goes with it is what the more-than-8000 nearly hysterical fans saw Friday night in the Brigham Young University fieldhouse as the Cougars routed the Utah State Aggies 69-67.

The Cats proved that the Utags' nickname of 'giant killers' was little more than a fable. Two weeks ago, the Cougars and the Farmers met in the latter's home court for their first meeting of the season. The BYU quintet was on the ropes, so to speak, from the opening whistle, having been severely hit by the flu.

After the Pumas lost that game, the Aggies were dubbed 'giant killers' and 'upset kids.' It was more than unjust and the Y squad left Logan with blood in their eyes.

Losers Hit 44 Per Cent

Friday night's duel was a thriller from the initial buzzer. Cook and Harbertson, leading A.C. scorers, again carried much of the scoring load as they hit from nearly every angle. Both men garnered 18 points for the night's best results and both hit nearly 50 per cent of their shots. Sewell, a jump-shot fanatic, also helped put the Cougars on the short end of the score through most of the first half and into the third quarter. The halftime score read 37-34 for the Baker-coached lads.

Just before the halftime, Tom Karren, who started at forward for BYU, was replaced by Larsen and early in the third frame, pivot-man Nick Mateljan left the game on personals and was replaced by Jarman. The Loganites continued to increase their lead until with four minutes remaining in the third stanza, the Staters held a 10 point advantage but Dean Larsen went on the scoring spree that netted him 11 points in two quarters of action.

Cougars Rally

Excitement began to grow as the Y attack sharpened and pandemonium broke loose as Larsen hit the mark on a difficult twisting jump-shot and brought the Cats within two points of the Utags.

Larsen's next efforts brought the crowd to their feet, cheering wildly. Bert Cook, the Aggie hot-shot, began to bring the ball down court but the lanky lad from Mesa saw an opening and lunged at the ball, wrestling it from Cook's grasp. Then, flat on his back, the 6'2" sophomore hooked the ball over to Richey who laid it up for two points. It was beautifully done. The score was tied at 55-55 and the Y crowd sensed victory.

A few seconds later, Chris dropped in a charity toss to put the Cougars out in front by the margin of a single point. The Aggie fight seemed to be on the wane after this resurgent attack but Harbertson dumped in a push shot to give the Cache Valley club the lead once more. Jerry Romney took off on one of his fantastic drive-ins and put the apple in the bucket. He also drew and sank a free throw and put the Cougars out in front by two.

Jarman Hits

Jarman then picked up his only counters by connecting with a lay-up and a tip-in with little more than a minute remaining in the contest. A long jump-shot by Cook topped off the Farmer scoring and the rest of the contest was all BYU. The whistle seconds later, saw the crowd go crazy; Dean Larsen being carried off the court on the shoulders of his triumphant team-mates and the scoreboard blazing forth with the score, BYU 69, Utah State 67. All of this was after trailing by a ten point margin. Some come-back!

Richey Gets 15

Another highlight of the struggle was the play of Joe Richey, the tricky, fast-as-greased-lightning forward, who carried off scoring honors for the victors with 15 and who did the best rebounding of anyone on the court. He was terrific.

Romney's roof-dusting two-handers and mad-bull drive-ins netted the 6'3" senior 13 counters for his evening's play. It was the head-up floor play and defensive alertness of Hal Christensen that kept the Cougars in the game when the going was the toughest. It was a real team victory.

Saturday night also brought its share of excitement. The Wy-

Karren (13), an unknown Poke, and Samuelson (8) watch the play unfold. The action took place during BYU's loss to Wyoming Saturday. The score was 48-43.

Kittens Win Two Tilts Over Weekend

The Brigham Young University Freshman squad chalked up two more victories last weekend by dumping the Utah State Freshmen on Friday night 67-62 and the Idaho State Junior Varsity 66-50 on Saturday.

Sparked by the shooting of Neil Stephens and Ronnie Kump, the Kittens were out to make amends for the defeat they suffered at the hands of the young Farmers when the two clubs met in Logan two weeks ago.

Coach Bob Bunker used eleven men in compiling the 67 points. Kump and Stephens carried off scoring honors, with 14 and 13, respectively. The scoring for the Aggies was more evenly distributed, with Brown and Boothe sharing the honors with 11 each.

As a preliminary to the BYU-Wyoming tilt, the Kittens took on the Freshmen from Idaho State College from Pocatello. This was the only time the two teams have met in recent years.

Neil Stephens, a lanky lad who hails from Idaho, seemed to find the hoop and emerged with a total of 19 points for the evening's best results. Eleven men were again used in attaining the win, Coach Bunker's entire squad.

The Gem Staters put on a spirited game and the score was very close throughout much of the contest. The halftime tally read 31-28 for the Kittens, but the Idahoans surged back and battled for the lead.

The torrid pace and the sharp shooting proved to be too much for the lads from Pocatello and they succumbed to a score of 66-50.

The next action for the Kittens will be next weekend as a preliminary to the New Mexico tilt.

Cats - Pokes

ming Cowboys, having dumped Utah by the wayside the previous night, was out to make it two-in-a-row on this side of the mountains and strengthen their chances at the loop crown.

Starting off with a bang, the Cougars held a one or two point margin up to the last seconds of the second quarter, when Samuelson scored on a hook shot to put the Pokes out in front for the first time in the contest.

In the second half, the Cats regained the lead on two occasions but the deadly shooting and ball handling of the Cowboys began to pay off as they attained a five point lead and managed to hold on to it through most of the fourth quarter.

Despite frantic efforts to regain the lead, the Cougars seemed to fall apart in the waning moments of the battle and a one minute stall by the lads from Laramie chalked up another win and assured them the conference championship.

It was a story of percentages. Wyoming had 37 shots and hit on 33 per cent of those attempts while BYU took 70 shots and hit on only 22 per cent. Had the Y squad hit as good a percentage as they did the night before, the story would have been very different. The score was BYU 43, Wyoming 48.

Wyoming In Conference Driver's Seat

The Wyoming Cowboys took two big steps toward the conference championship last weekend by dumping the second and third place teams, Brigham Young and Utah were the victims of the high flying Pokes from Laramie.

Wyoming boasts a 10-1 record and is two and a half games ahead of BYU with only three games remaining. A win over the Cougars at Laramie would give the Skyline title to Wyoming. The Cougars' record is 7-3.

Utes Play Once

The Denver Pioneers sneaked into third place ahead of Utah State and Utah with a so-so win over the New Mexico Lobos 61-44. The Pioneers have a 10 per cent point lead over the Utah schools.

The Utah Redskins played only once over the weekend and as a result dropped into a tie for fourth with Utah State. The Utes lost a 64-57 decision to the invading Wyoming Cowboys.

Utah State made a futile bid for second place in the conference standings when they dropped a heartbreaking 69-67 game to BYU after humbling the visiting Colorado A&M Rams.

In the Utah-Wyoming tilt, the Utes kept pace with the Cowboys until Moe Radovich started to hit in the second quarter. The Pokes led 36-31 at the half and, although Utah drew to within two points in the third period, were never pushed.

New Mexico. The Lobos stayed in the game until midway in the second quarter. From a tie at 23, the Pioneers moved to a 33-24 lead at intermission.

The small crowd of only 1,182 witnessed seven field goals by both teams during the third quarter and Denver led 42-36. In the final quarter, the Pioneers outscored the Lobos 19-5.

Denver's win gave them a 5-4 log, slightly better than the 6-5 marks shared by Utah State and Utah. In winning, Denver hit 32 per cent as compared with a rip-roaring 18.5 per cent hit by New Mexico.

Farmers Split Games

The Utah State Farmers had to be content with a split for the week's activity. Thursday night at Logan, the Farmers were quite warm as they romped over Colorado A&M. Bert Cook led both teams with 27 points.

Friday night, the Farmers hit an amazing 44 per cent against BYU but the fighting Cougars managed to edge the visitors by overcoming a 10 point deficit in the second half.
